Say the B. Y. C. of Logan Was Fairly Defeated.

GAME AWARDED TO LOCALS

MAY PLAY A SERIES FOR THE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

ALF a dozen basket ball players, representing the L. D. S. U. team that played the B. Y. C. in Logan Saturday afternoon, returned to the city last evening and had many weird tales to relate about the disputed game between the two teams. The boys claim they won the game by a score of 18 to 16, and say it was so awarded by H. C. Hicks, the referee. It appears that the Logan aggregation would not take the decision rendered by the referee and claim the contest. From all that can be learned there was a warm time during the contest. From all that can be learned there was a warm time during the contest. and excitement ran high among the players and the audience.

At the call of time for the last haif, the score stood 14 to 14, and according to rules when a tic results the teams are to continue play until one side has scored three points, which wins the contest for the team so doing. It was after the play was resumed that the trouble commenced, and which ended the game in confusion. Freeman Eassett, captain of the L. D. S. U. team, relates the story of this part of the game as follows:

"After the game was resumed," said Bassett. "each team scored a point from a foul throw, making the score 15 to 15. Then the B. Y. C. scored another point from a free throw, giving them sixteen points. Immediately after Stanton threw a basket from the field, giving us three points and the game. We retired to the dressing room, when members of the E. Y. C. team came rushing in and claimed that Stanton had one foot on the boundary line when he threw the basket. Rather than have any dispute we again lived up on the "eld.

"A moment later Stanton threw another basket and the B. Y. C. team claimed Stanton was hoiding the ball out of bounds when he this we he basket. We again gave in to them and resumed play. Stanton then secured the ball out of bounds and passed it to Hamblin, who passed it to me and I shot a fair goal.

"Just as the ball passed into the basket and carried the ball out of bounds. Whether Stanton did or not had no effect on the result. as the rules say that after the ball leaves a player's hands and the whistle blows, the player shall be ensisted to the basket in t est evening and had many weird tales to relate about the disputed game between the two teams. The boys claim they have no interest in either team. The local boys were loud in their praise of the treatment accorded the team after the game. They say the Logan team paye them a banquet and ball and treated them royally.

B. Y. C. CLAIMS GAME,

Take Exceptions to Hicks' Statement About Contest.

About Confest.

(Special to The Herald.)

Logan, Feb. 22.—Considerable surprise was caused in collegiate athletic circles by the statement in today's Herald of Referee Hicks relative to yesterday's basket ball contest. He asserts that but two points were made by the B. Y. C. after the call of time, when such is not the case. At least a dozen people kept score on the game and not one had less than seventeen points down for the B. Y. C.

Your correspondent was the official scorer of the game, being selected for that position by Mr. Hicks, with the consent of the B. Y. C. captain, and the clicial score card shows three points made after the cail of time in the last

But at all times they are forced to keep an eye out for sleepers who try to make reputations by "sneaking" over a punch for a knockout. Kid McCoy had an experience once in this line that he has often related. He was meeting all comers, and a big Swede decided to take a chance. The Swede's real name did not indicate that there was any fighting blood in his veins, so McCoy's manager billed the fellow as "Tom Duggan would not go into the ring until McCoy had solemnly promised not to land a hard blow. But Duggan told his friends to watch out for "something good." They went to work with love taps until Duggan, believing that McCoy was not suspicious, prepared to let go a set terrific punch for the jaw. As he drew back his right so that he might get a full sweep into the blow. Duggan could not help muttering, "You're a fine champion." The words tipped McCoy off, and quick he saw coming. Then the Kid unbooked a right himself which caught Duggan on the chin and put him so far into the Land of Nod that the referee had time to meeting all comers often have to agree that they will not attempt to hurt some

LEWIS B. ADAMS DEAD

The Well Known Business Man Passes Away From Septic Poisoning.

L. B. Adams died last night at exactly 11 o'clock as a result of septic poisoning, growing out of the accident on Feb. 14, when his foot was crushed between the drawheads of two freight cars. Mr. Adams never fully railied from the shock of the accident and of the amputation following, and for several days his physicians and friends have all but despaired of saving his life. His entire family, consisting of his wife, his son, Herbert, and his daughters, Marle and Inez, were at his bedside when the end came. The son arrived from Minneapolis at midnight Saturday and Miss Marie arrived from Boston yesterday morning.

Lewis Bernard Adams was born in the province of Saxony, Germany, fifty-nine years ago and came to Rochester, N Y., with his father and two sisters when he was 7 years old. He resided in Rochester until 1861, and soon after the breaking out of the civil war he joined the army of the Potomac and was in active service for two years. He was wounded once and was also confined to the hospital for a considerable time by reason of fever, contracted in the service.

resided in Rochester until 1801, and soon after the breaking out of the civil war he joined the army of the Potomac and was in active service for two years. He was wounded once and was also confined to the hospital for a considerable time by reason of fever, contracted in the service.

During the latter part of his term of enlistment he was in the hospital service. After the close of the war he remained for some time in Rochester, coming west in 1869, settling at Corinne, Utah. He was in business at that place for several years and removed to Ogden about twenty-five years ago. He has been in business here ever since. He was for a number of years cashier of the Utah National bank. Two years ago he organized the Adams Can & Canning company, built the factory and was the general manager of the concern at the time of his death.
